Fish on 50 Miles of Shoreline

Thanks to the fresh waters of the Colorado River and all the possibilities of the Gulf of Mexico, Matagorda County offers the best of both worlds. Find a spot on the bank of a river or creek and cast your line for some catfish and black drum, or charter a deep-sea fishing trip and try your luck at snagging a trophy amberjack, red snapper, kingfish, or shark. You can even fish from the beach or wade into the surf snare redfish and trout. With so much fishing to do, it's no surprise Matagorda County hosts countless angling tournaments throughout the year.

Play a Round on the Rio Colorado Golf Course

Aim your tee shot down a rolling fairway, sink a putt as you overlook the scenic bluffs of the Colorado River, and keep an eye out for alligators, deer, hawks, rabbits, and other wildlife. This is all part of the playing experience at the Rio Colorado Golf Course, an 18-hole course set within tranquil coastal wetlands and prairies. Natural hazards and strategically placed bunkers make Rio Colorado a captivating challenge for all players, while the full set of tee boxes make it accessible to novices and experts alike.

Want a shorter round? Head to the Palacios Golf Course, a public nine-hole course with wide-open fairways located a stone's throw away from Tres Palacios Bay.

Discover Matagorda County's History

In the late 1860's, colonists and explorers led by famed French explorer Robert de La Salle arrived in Matagorda Bay. The expedition ended in disaster with the sinking of La Salle's flagship La Belle, one of many of the fascinating stories that comprise Matagorda County's history. Discover much of its storied past at the Matagorda County Museum, where you can see one of the cannon's unearthed from La Belle, learn about the Karankawa Indians that lived here, and discover what life was like for early colonists and settlers. The on-site Children's Museum is a recreation of an early 20th-century Texas town where youngsters can shop at an old-fashioned general store, browse a toy shop full of wind-up toys, and more.

There's even more history to uncover at the City by the Sea Museum in Palacios. See more artifacts from La Belle's shipwreck and check out the exhibits showcasing World War II Army base Camp Hulén, the history of fishing and agriculture in the region, and more. Don't miss a visit to the La Petite Belle, a half-scale replica of the La Belle located at the South Bay Marina in Palacios.
